The JOURNAL received late last night copies of the speeches delivered at the banquet at Carson last week. Some of them are humorous, others eloquent, and, as the old toper said about whisky, all good, but a press of dispatches and other matter, and a disposition on the part of the typographical force to not break the Sabbath, precluded the possibility of printing them in this paper.

INDIAN NEWS.

Sensible Putes Not Affected With the Messiah Craze.

Johnson Sides, the Pute peace maker, and Winnemucca John, from Quinn River Valley, visited the JOURNAL office yesterday. They desire to have the white people understand that sensible Putes are not affected with the Messiah craze and do not believe the stories told by the so-called prophet. If all the Indians east, west, north and south of Nevada were to take to the war path for the Messiah the sensible Putes will not join them. Winnemucca John and Captain Charley, a brother of Johnson Sides, acted as peace makers many years ago, and will continue to do so, as all that good Putes desire is for the whites to give them work.

When the Putes have a dance or other amusement, they want the whites to join them. When Indians are preparing for war they paint their bodies and are naked to the waist, and this they do not do any more. Their ordinary dances mean nothing but peace and enjoyment.

THE MEETING LAST NIGHT.

A Large Attendance and Some Spirited Discussions.

The meeting at the Court House last night, called at the request of the Washoe delegation, was largely attended and elicited much information and some spirited discussions.

W. O. H. Martin was chosen Chairman and A. C. Bragg Secretary.

The Chairman called upon Senator Emmitt to state the object of the meeting which the Senator did in a brief and pointed speech.

In response to a call G. W. Baker, addressed the meeting. He could not see the necessity of a Washoe county representative asking instructions as to his course on the question of calling a Constitutional Convention as the voters decided that matter by a majority of over 1,400 in its favor. He favored a State Board of Equalization, was opposed to the repeal of the 12 o'clock law and was in favor of the semi-annual payment of taxes.

General Powning spoke in response to an invitation, and agreed with Mr. Baker, except that he did not think a State Board of Equalization would benefit Washoe county. He directed attention to the fact that Washoe county's representation is not what it is entitled to. He favored a pub to park for Reno.

Assemblyman Kinney asked for an expression of opinion on the consolidation of county officers.

H. H. Beck responded to a loud call. He thought State expenses ought to be reduced 30 or 40 per cent. We are paying from twenty to fifty times as much, proportionately, for a State Government, as Ohio, New York and other Eastern States. He opposed a consolidation of offices, but favored a reduction of salaries. He is opposed to the repeal of the 12 o'clock law and is skeptical regarding the Board of Equalization.

Assemblyman Bell, of Nye, was requested to explain his proposition to establish a laboratory for analysis and assay of ores and minerals at the State University. He said he introduced a bill for the establishment of such a laboratory, as there are other valuable minerals in the State besides gold and silver, and he desired to help the prospector and miner. He favors a State Board of Equalization and the taxation of patented mines.

Dr. Dawson was next called upon and he offered a resolution, which was adopted, against the repeal of the 12 o'clock law, and requesting the Washoe delegation to use all honorable means to prevent its repeal.

John M. Fulton, in response to a call, said he as a tax payer was opposed to a Constitutional Convention and the interests he represented are opposed to such a Convention.

District Attorney Julien was called upon. He said the reduction of State and county expenses was all right, but the storage of water for irrigation was the question of all questions. He thought irrigation districts should be formed and the water controlled by private capital. He is opposed to a Constitutional Convention and would vote against it. He favored the fee system for county officers.

A. C. Bragg offered a resolution reciting the fact that the Legislature has been in session two weeks and accomplished nothing, and instructing the delegation to use all honorable means to call a Constitutional Convention. A motion to strike out the preamble relating to the Legislature was carried and that part of the resolution relating to the Convention was adopted.

H. L. Fish addressed the meeting in favor of reducing salaries of State officials, and favored a Constitutional Convention if competent men could be chosen to frame a new Constitution. He does not believe the Legislature will reduce expenses.

W. L. Knox offered a resolution in favor of the Australian ballot law, which was adopted.

George Alt offered a resolution, which was voted down, to instruct the delegation to vote against the repeal of the water law.

Mr. Mapes favored the law, and Mr. Julien and Mr. Baker spoke against it.

Mr. Mapes favored the repeal of the law taxing mortgages, and opposed a State Board of Equalization.

The meeting adjourned until Saturday evening, February 7th.

AN OLD GREENBACKER.

Either He Learned His Lesson Wrong or Somebody is Mistaken.

EDITOR OF THE NATIONAL VIEW:

To my shame, I own that, till to-night, I have not, for the past six years, read a single article in The View by your numerous correspondents in relation to money or its powers or properties, not that I could not have learned very much, but I am naturally indolent, and I thought that the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States had so definitely settled the question that the work of the greenbacker was finished, that is, that it was a determined fact that the United States could coin money out of or on paper as valuable for the purposes of money as that coined out of or on gold or silver.

I see by The View of December 13, that I am mistaken and that there is a gentleman living right where the decision was rendered who believes that a dollar, to be a dollar, must have in it something of value, or I misapprehended his meaning. As I have said, till to-night I have not read an article on money since the greenback decision, and I suppose that it was "The Ideal Dollar" that attracted my attention. I became so interested that I hunted up Mr. Burdard's article in The View of November 8, and also Mr. Markham's criticism in The View of November 29. I am free to confess that I am so stupid that I do not understand Mr. Burdard, and I either learned my lesson wrong or that gentleman is mistaken. It may be that I am behind the times and have grown rusty, and it is with the hope that I may get brightened up that I will venture to oppose my opinions to those of that gentleman. I learned, or thought I did—

First. That in our country we are so happily circumstanced that money is not the creation of law, but the law, stamped upon some substance capable of receiving and retaining the impress of sovereignty, and that each substance so impressed with the seal of sovereignty carries with it, not the value of the substance, but the edict and decree of the sovereign to every subject of the realm.

Second. Every substance upon which the edict has been so stamped, whether it be gold, silver, copper or paper, has its commercial or commodity value absolutely destroyed while bearing this edict of the sovereign—that is, while used as money.

Third. Money, pure and simple, has no commodity value and is no more tangible than any other edict or decree of the sovereign.

Fourth. That there need be no money unit, wrought from some valuable metal, Mr. Burdard will learn if he will refer to the history of the Bank of Venice. That there can be no such absolute measure formed as the meter and yard, a moment's reflection will show him. H. H. HOOD.
